Executive Director's Address

2004 EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR ANNUAL REPORT

As the Executive Director of the Ninilchik Traditional Council (NTC), I am pleased have this opportunity to review the positive growth and impact the Tribe has experienced in the year of 2004. 'Expansion' has been the key element this past year. We have seen an increase in program funding and an increase in the number of grants we've been awarded. Increases in funding always mean enhancement in the services NTC provides which ultimately means additions to our workforce. The Procurement, Housing and Tribal Services departments all added on with assistants positions this year. Our Environmental/Resource Management added a full-time staff biologist position and the Clinic added a Medical Records position. NTC and the Tribe are extremely fortunate to have the staff that we have and I would like to offer an enormous "Thank You" to our employees. We have had a wonderful and very productive year, none of it would have happened without the hard work and dedication the NTC employees demonstrate every day.

One very important issue the Council, staff and myself have been pushing for the past year is a land transfer from Ninilchik Native Association, Inc. (NNAI) to NTC in the amount of 640 acres of local Ninilchik land. NTC would like direct title to a traditional site for Tribal members and NNAI shareholders. It is imperative that the Tribe develop a land base. Some may ask why so much acreage, but the Tribe grows, especially at the rate it has been, we need areas for a Tribal youth camp, which requires a larger land base; additionally, NTC needs title to an area big enough to participate in traditional subsistence activities in order to push the fight for our aboriginal rights. The state has issued potlatch/special activity permits in the past for a moose hunt and in order to define our culture we need to conduct these activities on Tribally owned land. Under ANCSA, land was given to the corporations and the Tribe received no direct title to property. As the onslaught continues towards Tribal governments, it is now more than ever important to show a self governing attitude by developing a land base, economic infrastructure and getting back to our culture and way of life. NNAI has classified lands for commercial and non-commercial use and there is no better entity to manage a cultural and traditional area for the individual and collective benefit of the Ninilchik Native people than the Tribe. Possibilities for a Tribal land base include a subsistence camp area, a kids camp, cultural gathering area, livestock rearing, agricultural areas, historical area for members to maintain a connection with their heritage and tribal history, and the promotion of family and inter-generational activities. The land transfer idea has been ongoing for almost 1.5 years now and we are very close to signing agreements with NNAI.

NTC's Tribal Services department had an extremely busy year. In the 2003/2004 school year, they provided kids at the Ninilchik Elementary/High School the Mystery Reading Club, which offered Ninilchik youth a safe place to go after school and complete homework and participate in tutoring. NTC employed 4 tutors and 2 librarians for the duration of that program. Tribal Services has also been renting the school pool to make open swim available. Recently, Tribal Services has just donated a new slide to the pool.

Tribal Services has also been renting the school pool to make open swim available. Recently, Tribal Services has just donated a new slide to the pool. Tribal Services also conducted a fish camp during the summer where kids took part in traditional river fishing, set-netting, processing and smoking their own fish. The Clinic and Youth Alcohol Program conducted their annual Sacred Circle camp and a summer kickball season. The Elder's Outreach Program has been a tremendous success, with monthly potlatches and meetings. This year, the Elder's, Tribal youth and staff received a state issued permit for a cow moose and moose meat was distributed to our Elders. I am very proud to be apart of an organization that promotes Elder/Youth activities, as it is of extreme importance for our Elders to have an opportunity to pass on their knowledge. The Ninilchik Indian Housing Program has completed two Weatherizations, two Modification/Rehabilitations, four Emergency Assistances and two Snow Removals for Elders. The Ninilchik Community Clinic has continued to make available high quality primary care to the Tribe and community. As some of you may have noticed, we are finally breaking ground on our clinic expansion. We plan to move the majority of staff into the new building to provide more office space per person and to free up some space in the original clinic building for more medical exam rooms. You can expect to see the new building in use around the third week of January 2005. Along the same lines, we are getting closer to having our own NTC Administration building. We had a professional engineer/designer finalize the building plans which we will use when applying for financing.

Another largely expanding department at NTC has been the Resource Enforcement/Management team. We have had another successful year of moose hunting/permitting and we are revising our system for next year to enhance the proxy hunt program. We successfully applied for 2 new BIA grants, one for Resource Subsistence and one for the development of an Integrated Resource Management Plan. These grants have given NTC the opportunity to hire a full-time staff biologist and the funds to research how to safeguard and manage our native lands and environment to enhance our subsistence resources.

Within the realm of finances, our new accounting system has been in place and operational this past year. With any new system, there are many things to learn, however I believe that this system has taken us well into the 21st Century with regards to its capacity and abilities. NTC's auditor presented a synopsis which covered the growth and expansion from 1999 to 2003 at the 03/31/2004 NTC Regular Council Meeting. It is a true testimony to the fact that we are one of the most productive and functional Tribal governments in Alaska, as noted by our funding agencies such as BIA and CITC.

In moving forward and progressing towards the future, change is always upon us. I believe change to be a positive thing, albeit a struggle at times. As the Executive Director, I embrace change and encourage new ideas, as it is the road to growth. I heavily support Tribal Member participation and encourage members to attend Regular Council Meetings. It is with great pride that I will serve another year for the betterment of the Ninilchik Village Tribe.

Sincerely,

Ivan Encelewski

NTC TRIBAL SERVICES

Remember to Vote!!!

All ballots have been mailed to registered voters and must be returned by Election Day on November 8, 2004. Please make sure your ballot has plenty of time to get to the Post Office box in Anchor Point, as we will not be accepting ballots at the NTC office.

NTC's Annual Meeting will be on November 13, 2004 @ the NTC Subsistence building in Ninilchik.

NTC's Educational Moose Hunt was a success!!!

NTC received a permit for an educational moose hunt this fall, with 9 tribal youth participating. The hunt was a success and the moose was divided between our elders. This was a great experience for all who participated. Alvin Steik, Tribal Elder assisted with the butchering and processing. Special thanks goes out to all who helped make this a memorable event.

NTC RESOURCE OFFICE

The fall hunts are over and we would like to thank everyone for having a safe hunting season.

The continued cooperation of Ninilchik Native Corporation (NNAI) and Cook Inlet Regional Corporation (CIRI) has been a tremendous benefit for everyone who participates in the program.

The direct coordination with Alaska State Troopers Todd Mountain and Travis Bordner was a big help in regulating activities. Again, I would like to thank everyone.

The participation in the collection of information about the populations were very good. There are still some people who have not sent in their harvest information yet. It's a good idea to send it in, because it helps us access population and pressure for the 2005 Moose hunt. There were several good suggestions in the harvest information returned and they will be put on the agenda for next year.

We have started to look into avenues of satisfying the subsistence needs of the Tribe. We looked at the federal permits and found some interesting information about them and how they are evaluated. After we inquired about permitting Pat Peturbelli, of US Fish and Wildlife, kindly contacted NTC to discuss the federal permitting. Pat is an anthropologist that evaluates how traditional needs were met including funerary activities, mortuary activities, and potlatches.

There was a recent Educational hunt performed by NTC in November and a moose was harvested for the Elders. Several kids participated in the hunt and were a big help. The kids, and some of the adults, who had not participated in the harvesting of a moose learned a lot. The best lesson from it all was that no one got hurt; I don't think anyone even cut their finger. Wow!

I hope that we can continue pursuing these benefits for the tribal members and exercise the roles of the Ninilchik Village Tribe.

ENVIRONMENTAL

INDOOR AIR POLLUTION IN AND AROUND THE HOUSE

Indoor pollution sources that release gases or particles into the air are the primary cause of indoor air quality problems in homes. Inadequate ventilation can increase indoor pollutant levels by not bringing in enough outdoor air to dilute emissions from indoor sources and by not carrying indoor air pollutants out of the home. High temperature and humidity levels can also increase concentrations of some pollutants. Following is a list of some hazardous products that many of us use, or may be subject to, on a more-or-less everyday basis.

Air Fresheners: Air fresheners work in one of the following four ways: by interfering with your ability to smell by way of a nerve-deadening agent; by coating your nasal passages with an undetectable oil film; by covering up one smell with another; and (rarely) by breaking down the offensive odor. Despite their name, air fresheners do little to freshen the air. Aerosol fresheners can be harmful to lungs if inhaled in high concentrations or for prolonged periods of time. Solid fresheners may be poisonous if eaten by children or pets.

Antifreeze: Antifreeze contains ethylene glycol, which is poisonous when ingested. Ingestion may result in depression followed by respiratory and cardiac failure, kidney damage and brain damage. Manufacturers of antifreeze are required to clearly post dangers on the label and provide a childproof cap, which minimizes the danger of accidental ingestion by children. However, antifreeze when improperly disposed of can endanger the health of pets. Each year, thousands of dogs and cats are poisoned by discarded or leaking antifreeze. The sweet taste of antifreeze attracts pets that lap up puddles of anti freeze they find. To prevent this danger, wash down or absorb puddles of antifreeze with an absorbent material such as kitty litter and dispose of the absorbent in the trash.

Batteries – Wet Cell: Automobiles, boats, and tractor batteries are wet cell batteries which contain lead and sulfuric acid. When activated, the electrolyte solution in the battery produces explosive gases that are easily ignited. Manufacturers of batteries containing sulfuric acid must use labels that warn consumers of the dangers from battery acid and accumulated gases. Sulfuric acid is extremely caustic. Fumes are strongly irritating, and contact can cause burning and charring of the skin; it is exceedingly dangerous to the eyes. Lead is poisonous in all forms and accumulates in our bodies and in the environment.

PLEASE RECYCLE ALL USED BATTERIES

Scouring Powder containing Bleach. Fumes are highly irritating to eyes and respiratory tract; causes deadly chloramines gas if mixed with ammonia. Most scouring powders use calcium carbonate as the abrasive, and may contain chlorine bleach. To prevent the formation of toxic gas, do not use cleansers containing bleach with other cleaning products such as toilet bowl cleaner, oven cleaner, or all-purpose cleaners, which may contain ammonia. The combination of bleach and ammonia produces toxichloramines gas. In sensitive individuals, scouring powders that contain chlorine may irritate and redden the skin.

The following websites provide detailed information on these and a multitude of other indoor air pollutants:

HOUSING

I have wondered at times what the Ten Commandments would have looked like if Moses had run them through the US congress. ---Ronald Reagan

Hello everyone,

Well it's time to vote for someone that will and can make a difference. And I am not going to sit here and tell you who to vote for. But I am going to take the time to point out a few things and to say that if there has ever been a time to get out and vote, it is this time. I suggest that you take the time to look over the issues on who has said what, what their views are, and just what their record shows in regarding Alaskan Natives, Alaskan Tribes and most importantly what are their views on Alaskan Native's having Tribal Sovereignty. While many people do not know this is an issue that is currently being directly attacked. For instance, at this time Alaskan Tribes do not exist anymore when being referred to as receiving money from federal programs, you are now called Alaskan Native Entities. While this may not seem like a huge change, you may take the time to ask yourself just what is - and how did I become an entity. You might also ask yourself just how long do you think the Federal government is going to continue funding Native entities.

For instance in April of 2004 there was furthering evidence on the separation of Alaskan Natives from American Indians, with Executive Order 13336, dealing with American Indian and Alaska Native Education. Section 1, of this executive order, states that the "United States has a unique legal relationship with Indian tribes and a special relationship with Alaskan Native entities." This is stating that the United States has a legal relationship with the Lower 48 tribes, and only a special relationship with Alaskan Native's. But what is also lying out that there is a distinct separation of Alaskan Natives from the American Indian's. If you care to read this executive order, you can look it up on the web at: <http://www.whitehouse.gov/news/releases/2004/04/20040430-10.html>

Ok let's take a different look that is a little closer to home, with my Housing Programs. While Congress has been making record-breaking appropriations of funding to other minority based HUD programs, NAHASDA funding has remained the same for the fifth year in a row. This means that when you take into consideration the cost of living continuously rising, and that there have been no increases or adjustments in NAHASDA funding to cover that cost of living, then your housing programs are actually losing 10% to 20% a year in funding. When you stop and think why this is happening you have only to remember that American Indians and Alaska Natives are a small minorities group compared to other minorities. And since having a larger population- will mean in the end more votes, you only have to know that by giving more you have found a way of buying votes through the use of federal programs.

I don't need to influence you with my thoughts of who you should or shouldn't vote for. I do think you should become aware of some of the other issues that have been going on that you may not have known about. I think that most of those candidates running for office have made there priorities known, it is up to you to decide if their priorities are the same as for you and your loved ones.

Well I am not going to take up anymore of your time. I just wanted to point out the importance of voting, and to give you something to think about looking at when voting, I also want to point out that my views are mine and not those of the Ninilchik Traditional Council and while I do have views what I have listed is in the public domain to be looked at by anyone. I hope all are ready for winter and it looks like white stuff any day now. ;c (We are still taking applications for the Rehab programs so we will be up and ready for building as soon as break up happens this next year. Also, on our website we now have our housing applications in PDF format for you.

Until next month, C-ya!

Bob ☺
